Flavoured Water Concepts

The popularity of bottled and flavoured water has continued to grow through 2013 and is expected to increase even more into 2014. The soft drinks sector is also seeing more and more adults turning to both water and none alcoholic, sophisticated drinks for the health benefits.

We here at ungerer feel that it shouldn't be a compromise, having to choose between sophisticated, cutting edge flavours and the health benefits of water, and as a result, our dedicated marketing and technical team have created this line of on trend flavour concepts, perfect for application in flavoured water.
